FIND VIOLATIONS
OF DRY LAW HEREState Representatives of Federal Prohibition Department Warn
About Beer Signs

NO "LEFT-OVERS" ALLOWED

Merchants Notified About Sale of Lemon Extract and Jamaica
Ginger—"White Mule" Here

State representatives from the federal prohibition department were in Rushville today, investigating liquor violations and warning local merchants and others, about certain legislative matters which, the officers say, are being violated in this city.

The federal agents were making a survey of the city, and noticed signs displayed in several parts of the business section regarding intoxicating liquors, which are "left-overs" for several years.

The officers wished to call to the attention of local business men the fact that no sign nor advertisement is to be displayed regarding beer or whiskey, and the law stated that these signs should have been destroyed prior to January 17, of this year.

In rooms formerly used as saloons, any painted sign that remains hanging out, must be destroyed, and the officers stated that several of these signs were still in evidence, and was a direct violation of the law.

Local druggists and grocers were also warned by the officers regarding the sale of lemon extract, and they pointed out that such dealers must use caution in selling the extract, and limit their sale only for the use for which it is intended.

Drug stores were also warned about the sale of Jamaica ginger, and must limit their sale to two ounces, and under this condition may sell only to those whom they know will not use it for intoxicating purposes.

The officers were also on the hunt for alleged sales of "white mule," or moonshine whiskey. It is said that they have good evidence that the market here is being supplied, and a stop will be put to it by the federal officers, unless local officers get busy and clean up things, according to the statement of one of the officers.

The federal agents will be in Rushville again soon, and at that time will arrest all violators, especially on page two.

Valuable Work Salvation Army is Doing in This City.

TO AID BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT

Support of the Salvation Army Home Service Fund campaign, which is being conducted in Rush county this week by the Elks, was urged today at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club of Rushville, at the Social club, by Frank Abercrombie, who presided. Judge Will M. Sparks also spoke briefly, commending the Salvation Army and its work in Rushville. He praised especially Captain J. A. Trench as a devoted and faithful servant who did an immense amount of good, of which the public was not generally aware.

I. L. Endres, acting chairman of the boys work committee of the club, reported regarding a meeting of the committee with the officials of the local Boy Scout organization, at which the support of the Rotary club was pledged to the Scout movement in Rushville. An effort is being made to organize more troops and build up a complete Scout organization.

Walter W. Hubbard spoke today on the record of Rotary's code of ethics. "One Rotarian makes a short talk on one code each week and a different member of the club presides at each luncheon."

SAYS TREASON IS PROVEN

Obregon Orders Surrender of Herrero For Carranza Assassination

Mexico City, Mexico, May 25.—General Obregon, commander of the revolutionary forces, today commanded Rudolfo Herrero to surrender and answer to the charge of assassination of General Carranza, the deposed president of Mexico. Obregon declared that a clear case of treason had been proven.

The order followed Herrero's offer to come to Mexico City if given assurance of security. He stated that he would give proof that Carranza had died at his own hands.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSE HEARING

Herbert Hoover's Manager Submits
Account Showing Deficit—Sen.
Owen's Representative on Stand

(By United Press.)
Washington, May 25.—A total of $12,900 has been raised for the candidacy of Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, democrat, Walter Vick testified before the senate campaign expenditure committee today.

The National Personal Liberty League has also aided the governor's campaign, Vicks stated.

The league membership is composed largely of republicans, he said.

After Vicks asserted that no special interests of any kind had contributed or given aid to the governor's campaign, Senator Reed said:

"I am going to bluntly ask you, 'Have you any agreement with any liquor interests whereby they are to finance Edward's campaign?'"

"Unquestionably no," said Vicks. "We have no connection with them."

The campaign for Senator Owen of Oklahoma, democrat, is being conducted largely by friends in Oklahoma, James Berry, western manager, testified. They raised $7,810 mostly in small contributions, he said, and presented a list of contributors, many of whom gave from $1 to $5.

J. S. Lucey, Herbert Hoover's manager, was called next.

"Hoover's California friends have financed his campaign in that state," he stated, and added that he knew nothing about it.

Replying to a question by Senator Reed, Lucey said his work was principally stimulating "Hoover organizations throughout the country."

"Do you stimulate them with cash?" asked Reed.

"No," replied Lucey.

Lucey submitted an account showing a deficit of $2,447 in Hoover's campaign fund. The contributions totaled $92,085, many of them being from corporations, the account showed.

Lucey declared that most of Hoover's campaign was confined to Hoover clubs.

Senator Reed, Hoover's enemy, prodded Lucey about details surrounding Hoover's publicity campaign.

Lucey said he could not enlighten the committee about reports of the public's campaign for he knew nothing about it.

FEWER CUTWORMS

Indianapolis, May 25.—There are fewer cutworms this year than usual, according to Frank N. Wallace, state entomologist under the state conservation department. Wallace accounts for the noticeable decrease by the destruction of the worms by robbers and repeated cultivation of gardens.

Lowell Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morris, is seriously ill at his home in Noble township, suffering with mastoiditis, following a case of scarlet fever.

PRICE CUTTING
ONLY TEMPORARYAlthough Opinions Vary, Rushville
Business Men Believe Recent Wave Was Not Permanent

WHOLESALE COSTS NOT DOWN

Local Merchants Interested in Statement That Essential Business Will Not Be Disturbed

That the price cutting wave which recently swept the country and is now apparently on the wane, was fitful and will not be permanent, is the conclusion of Rushville merchants who have watched the developments. They can not understand, although they admit that prices have probably reached the peak, why retail prices should decline when the wholesale cost of merchandise is not going down.

Rushville men who have been watching the unusual developments in financial circles expressed interest today in the statement given out in Indianapolis by John Perrin, former Indianapolis banker, who is now chairman of the federal reserve board of the San Francisco district, in which he said that the federal reserve system is advising a closer scrutiny of loans but that it has no intentions of embarrassing a free handling of commodities and foodstuffs.

Opinions of Rushville business men vary regarding the probable condition of the market in the near future because they are based on the condition of the individual business enterprises in which each is engaged and upon information relative to the different markets. Inasmuch as the markets in some lines are uncertain due to labor conditions and production, the expressions cover a wide range.

Most of the local business men agree that three elements enter into the present situation—production, demand and credit. If prices were fixed solely upon supply and demand the situation would be much clearer, but credit is now an essential factor. The majority of those who were interviewed on the subject, expressed the belief that if the banks are following a more conservative policy in loans, and there are indications that they are, the peak of high prices has been reached and the naturally lower levels will be the natural and logical outcome. It is pointed out by some that if unlimited credit is withheld from even some manufacturers which hold a dominating place in the industrial world the effect will be apparent upon other enterprises.

SPARKS NOT SEEKING TO BE REAPPOINTEDSays He Will Serve Another Term
as Member of School Board if Council Desires it

IT IS NOT PERSONAL FIGHT.

Dr. Frank M. Sparks, whose term as a member of the city school board will expire the first today of June, is not a candidate for re-election, but he will accept the reappointment for another term if the council wishes him to serve again, he stated today.

The Woman's Council started a campaign several weeks ago for the appointment of a woman on the school board and is urging the council to name a woman to succeed Dr. Frank Sparks. The Woman's Council has been joined by many influential men and women of the city in the appeal for a woman on the school board. They have tried to emphasize the fact that their campaign is not a personal fight on Dr. Sparks in any sense of the word but that they are seeking to have women recognized in school affairs.

Dr. Sparks said that he was invited to become a member of the school board in the first place and that it is desired that he serve for another term, he will serve, but that he is not seeking the appointment.

COMMISSION CALLS
ON PUBLIC TO HELPAsks People to Give Information
Where Quantities of Coal Are Side-Tracked For Some Time

CONFERENCE YIELDS NOTHING

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—The public service commission today appealed to the people of Indiana to help overcome the coal car and fuel shortage in the state.

John W. McCardle, vice-chairman of the commission, asked the public to inform the commission of instances where quantities of coal have been side-tracked for some time.

At the same time the commission started a corps of inspectors on a tour of the state to locate such supplies. They will travel on all railroads and maintain a careful watch.

This action followed receipt of information by the commission that thirty car loads of coal have been on a side track near Kingsland, a small town in Well county, for two weeks.

A conference between the commissioners, superintendents of coal carrying railroads and representatives of coal mine operators, failed to bring forth any plans for an immediate relief.

SUIT TO FORECLOSE NOTES

Administrators of Groves Estate
Sues for $1,000 Judgment

George C. Wlyatt, acting as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Mary E. Groves, deceased, has filed a suit in the circuit court here to foreclose on two notes, demanding $1,000, and names Wilbur E. Chance, Daisy L. Chance of Fallmouth, Ella Wright and Charles Wright of Connersville, as defendants. The complaint sets forth that two notes, one for $200 and another for $300, money borrowed five years ago from the deceased, are unpaid, and are past due, and with interest and attorney fees, the plaintiff demands $1,000 judgment.

SPECULATION IS BLAMED

Two Hundred Million Dollars Worth of New Securities Sold in Iowa
Last Month Alone

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Ill., May 25.—A continued decrease in prices was predicted here today in the monthly report of the Seventh Federal Reserve Bank.

Tightening of loans, a continued demand for money and credit and the reported deplorable attitude of farmers who are buying securities in speculating enterprises, were cited as causes.

Two hundred million dollars worth of new securities were sold in Iowa last month, according to the report.

"The business world appears to be anticipating a readjustment in economical and social influences governing our social life and the situation becomes more complicated because of the lack of any precedent."

"There are a number of complex influences, each in itself potent in character," the report stated in reviewing the situation.

"Probably the most disturbing element in the situation is the almost demoralized condition of railroad transportation, it being on the verge of a breakdown."

"The labor situation as a whole shows a small improvement, principally because of the attitude of the working man."

"The credit supply is still restricted and the demand has outstripped any previous total in the history of the world."

"There is a general proof that there will be a revision of prices on all commodities with the trend in most cases downward."

QUICK ACTION DEMANDED

Insurgents Threaten Direct Action on Bonus Legislation.

Washington, May 25.—More than 100 house Republicans, all supporting the soldier relief bill, today threatened "direct action" if the leaders postponed consideration of the measure later than Thursday.

This agreement was reached last night at a meeting of the "insurgents." The original plan of the leaders was to permit action by the house today, but Chairman Campbell, of the rules committee, announced yesterday that final action would be delayed until Thursday.

Sherman Huff, of Indianapolis, president of the State Camp of Indiana, P. O. S. of A. was a visitor in this city yesterday and attended the meeting of Camp 9, last night. Mr. Huff reports the order as making a substantial membership gain throughout the state and expects with the help of an organizer soon to be placed in the field to double the present membership.

TO CONSOLIDATE
JACKSON SCHOOLSAlva Newhouse, Township Trustee, Files Suit to Condemn Land to Be Used as a Site

ADVERTISES FOR BIDDERS

This Will Leave One Township,
Richland, With No Consolidated
School—Movement Fails There

Alva Newhouse, trustee of Jackson township, has filed a suit in circuit court against Ethel Wilkinson, et al., on a complaint to condemn land for school ground, upon which a new school building for Jackson township will be erected this summer. It will be a consolidated school and the two buildings now in use in this township will be abandoned.

The suit petitions the court to appoint appraisers so that the value of the land can be determined, as the trustee maintains that the land is deemed necessary for school grounds. It is located about 4 1/2 miles north of this city.

The township trustee has advertised for bids for the new township school building, and the plans and specifications are now on file in the law office of Young and Young, and bids are now ready to be received, and will be so received until the contract is allowed.

The bids may be placed for the entire construction of the building, or proposals may be made for the general construction, electrical work, steam heating and ventilating, and for plumbing separately.

The plans for the new school building have been accepted, and were drawn and prepared by McGuire and Shook, architects of Indianapolis.

The action of the township trustee and advisory board in consolidating the schools of Jackson township will put Rush county one step nearer one hundred percent consolidation and will leave only one township in Rush county, Richland, which still clings to the old system.

Steps were taken several months ago to erect a consolidated school at Hawkins' Corner, in Richland township, and abandon the two schools now in use. But just now it appears that the movement will fail because of the belief among Richland township taxpayers that this is not the time to build a new school house.

When the petition was first filed, it contained more than the required number of signatures—one-third of the school patrons of the township as shown by the last enumeration of persons of school age. For a time it appeared that there would be a contest over the location. However this did not develop, but those opposed tion to President Wilson Who

HE SAYS IT IS IMPOSSIBLE

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 25.—William Jennings Bryan, placed himself directly opposed to President Wilson's foreign policy when he declared against his country accepting a mandate for Armenia.

"Any mandate is impossible," Bryan said in an interview today.

"The mandate over Armenia, if accepted, would involve us in heavy expenditures at a time when the war tax is so grievously binding that congress cannot find money necessary to do justice to the men who served in the world war."

"It would involve us in politics in Europe. It would involve us in the fierce commercial rivalry of the nations. The worst of all it would compel us to surrender the final principle of democracy, that all people are capable of self government."

In speaking of the dandelion wine and home brew products, the officers will conduct raids on private homes upon being furnished with evidence that such products have been made.

The officers that are visiting this city are working from the Evansville district and were the ones that raided the stills in the mining districts. J. A. The agents that visited here stated that all information is held confidential, and the letter need not be signed unless the writer desired.

Healthy People Have Good Blood

Health and strength depend to a large extent upon appetite and digestion which have been discussed in previous announcements, but also depend to less a degree upon the blood. Pale, watery blood can't carry nutrition in sufficient quantities to organs and tissues and weakness and poor health follow. Strong, healthy people have rich, red blood capable of carrying nutrition to organs and tissues all over the body, thus keeping them strengthened and built up.

If you are weak and run down and want to get back normal strength and health, look to your blood. The blood is to the human system what the big railway system is to America. Both are carriers of vital necessities.

The railway system transports food supplies, building materials, all kinds of necessities hither and thither over the country. If rail operations were entirely suspended catastrophe would quickly come. If transportation is partially curtailed, as has happened during "strikes," the country soon suffers.

Similarly does the human system suffer and weaken when the blood becomes weak and emaciated. The blood in this condition is not able to carry nutrition in sufficient quantities to the organs and tissues of the body to keep them strengthened and built up. As a result, weakness and a general run-down condition comes.

Vola-Tonic, "Builder of Strength," builds up and enriches the blood and enables it to do its full work in a normal way. In addition, Vola-Tonic brings a good appetite and good digestion and soothes the nerves. Strength and health in every way is benefited and the weakened, run-down man or woman feels better all over.

Vola-Tonic is being specially introduced in Rushville at Frank E. Walcott's. Adv.

The government has prohibited the sale of liquors containing more than 14 per cent of alcohol.

Juan Sanchez Ascani, in charge of the foreign office, has sent a note to all foreign diplomats here, explaining the reason for the extraordinary session of the congress, which named the provisional president. The statement says that President Carranza had "rebelled against the constitution."

In accordance with his oft-repeated request, President Venustiano Carranza, slain last Thursday morning at Tlaxcalantongo, was buried late yesterday in the Dolores cemetery, where, in the shadow of Chapultepec, the poorest of Mexicans have for many years found their last resting places.

In Scotch the word scapa means "head" and flow means "sea." Scapa flow is the portion of the sea in the southern part of the Orkney islands which extends from Pomona to the Pentland firth. It is fifteen miles long and about eight miles wide, and opens by Hoy sound in the northwest joining Pentland firth in the south near the island of Swona. The term scapa may perhaps be traced to the Gaelic sgapadh, to scatter, spread.

Stomach Out Of Order? Try NR

Nothing Better to Straighten You Out After Eating Too Much. Tones Liver, Regulates Bowels. Acts Pleasantly. Guaranteed.

Many people eat too much every day and most eat much too much some days. That is why Americans suffer more than any people in the world from indigestion, biliousness and constipation.

With a little thoughtfulness and care, however, a great amount of this distress could be avoided and you'll never realize how true this is until you become one of the several million people of this country who keep a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) constantly on hand and use it whenever indigestion, biliousness or constipation threatens.

Unlike laxative purges, cathartics, such as oil, calomel, etc., which merely force bowel action, Nature's Remedy exerts a beneficial influence upon the entire digestive and eliminative system—the stomach, liver, bowels and even the kidneys. Its purpose is to promote vigorous and harmonious action of all the organs that handle the food and body waste.

That is why the results which follow the use of Nature's Remedy are always a delightful surprise to those who first try it. The action, while prompt and thorough, is as mild and gentle and pleasant as Nature herself, and the thorough cleansing the body receives brings a feeling of real relief and benefit, such as no laxative pill or cathartic ever produced for anyone.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and try it. There is no risk in doing so, for it must give you greater relief and benefit than any liver or bowel medicine you ever used or money back instantly. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Sessue Hayakawa

Portraying the cold, cruel hard owner of a rich and fashionable gambling resort in

"His Debt"

Morayama, the gambling king, ruthless dictator in his gorgeous palace of chance, fair with his patrons but utterly merciless, had a single redeeming, human characteristic—he paid his debts—in full, as he collected—in full, it was a tradition of his race that he pay what he owed, and when it came to a matter of life, he gave a life for a life. "His Debt" is not a tragedy, but a forceful, twentieth-century drama with Hayakawa in a powerful role.

The Party Nominees

Now that June is only a few days away the political pot is boiling like mad. Politicness has ceased to be a virtue in the different camps and the air is full of verbal bricks.

It is a liberal education in the gentle art of picturesque denunciation to visit one or the other campaign headquarters, open minded correspondents agree. A Johnson sub-manager will whisper in tones that cannot be heard more than three blocks away that the Wood managers are vote stealers and are only kept from being horse thieves by the fact that stolen horses are hard to hide. And one of the Wood sub-managers will make heart-felt remarks to the effect that the only reason a Johnson worker wouldn't steal a red hot stove would be that there were no asbestos gloves handy.

The increasing bitterness of the fight between Johnson and Wood leads old stagers who have watched many political campaigns to believe that neither Johnson nor Wood will be strong enough in the convention and that each of them will be strong enough to knock the other out.

Lowden has carried on a very quiet and conciliatory campaign and is apt to get far more Johnson and Wood delegates in case the chances of those two leaders begin to look more hopeless than is now generally supposed. At the same time, the impression among the experienced political observers is that a dark horse is almost certain to run away with the prize.

Nobody seems to have any definite notion who will be the choice at San Francisco and, to tell the truth, no one seems to be very warm about the matter anyway. It is said that

Harry Lauder declares that the reason the Scotch are so funny to other folks is that they lack a sense of humor. To illustrate his meaning he tells of the doctor who went one forenoon to call on a patient. He was greeted at the door by the Scotch butler and remarked:

"I hope your master's temperature is much lower this morning, Sandy."

"I dinna noo about that," replied Sandy. "He died this mornin'."

MICKIE SAYS

Charles E. Murphy is in favor of nominating Cox. That means, of course, that New York's delegation will be for the Ohio man.

As a general proposition the delegates from New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will be of the moist variety—not wringing wet, you understand, but not dry, either; what you might call moderately damp.

The gentlemen who are actively interested in the bringing of beer and light wines into legal vogue have pledged a big campaign fund and they will be on hand at San Francisco to give Mr. Bryan and his colleagues a merry time.

Many people think that Edwards of New Jersey is the real choice of the wets but Cox is the man, many observers believe.

One Washington correspondent says that some men who pretend to know say confidently that President Wilson intends to have himself re-nominated. This correspondent sums up the situation in the following fashion:

"Mr. Wilson believes that he will be well enough to conduct a campaign by letters and that if he were successful he would be far enough recovered by the fourth of next March to face another presidential term. On the other hand, few persons who have actual knowledge of the president's condition see no reason at all to expect that he will be well enough either in mind or body to face a campaign, and certainly not well enough to carry the burden of another term.

"The fact is that the president is a very, very sick man, and those who are about him know this and are afraid to tell him what his condition really is. Mr. Wilson has always been extremely impatient of any contradiction or even in difference of opinion, a habit which is common to many men who spend their lives in teaching and laying down the law to younger men in college, and which is too apt to grow upon nearly all of us as we get older. And now that he has been so long an invalid and has been so terribly disappointed by the outcome of his negotiations at Paris, the president is in both a melancholy and an irritable frame of mind. And when he insists that he is almost well and getting better every day, no one is willing to contradict him to his face.

"The president's medical adviser Rear Admiral Grayson, was a joke at college and a joke at sea, and his chief qualification for the medical and naval positions he holds is a faculty of making himself very agreeable to both gentlemen and ladies. 'Mary' as he used to be called in college, can be depended upon to agree with anything that Mr. Wilson thinks about his condition. It is really too bad that the president does not have some friend loyal enough and big enough to convince him of the pathetic hopelessness of his desire to run again for the president.

BEAR OIL

Even Our Own Jim Watson Is Named As White House Timber

(The following article is provided by the United Press and is published as received, being another of the many sketches published in connection with the presidential prospects by both political parties.)

Senator James E. Watson never lived in a log cabin. He admits the house where he was born was frame. And he never split rails or "worked his way" through college. He was just an ordinary boy, born in an ordinary little Hoosier town—Winchester it was—with no particular ambition early in life.

Senator Watson's father practiced law in Winchester, so did his mother's cousin, Thomas M. Browne, a general in the civil war and member of congress for many years. He had the privilege of roaming at large through both offices and there got a taste for law.

He entered DePauw university at the age of seventeen and at the end of his college course took up the practice of law in Winchester. Senator Watson got into politics because his talents were recognized by older men and while campaigning at the age of twenty-eight, met John K. Gowdy, of Rushville, Indiana, state chairman in the McKinley campaign and later consul-general at Paris under Roosevelt.

It was Gowdy, who is now dead, who tempted Senator Watson. He persuaded the young lawyer to move to Rushville; said it was a growing town. It was he too who suggested that Senator Watson run for secretary of state when he was twenty-nine. He did seek the nomination but was defeated. That was in 1894.

But it was that circumstance which determined the career for Senator Watson. He confesses now the first taste of politics was mighty pleasing and that he has never left off boring into its intricacies.

Senator Watson's pet hobby is politics. It is his life, his recreation, his ambition to aspire to high office. There was a time when he listened to the arguments of his wife. That was in 1908 when he voluntarily retired from congress after serving six terms, and ran for governor of Indiana. Mrs. Watson reasoned that he should retire from public life and engage in the practice of law. Senator Watson admitted the logic of his wife and went into the race for governor with the intention of quitting politics after serving a term as governor.

Thomas Riley Marshall, now vice-president, interfered with his plans. County local option was Senator Watson's campaign issue. J. Frank Hanley, the republican governor of Indiana in 1908 and an ardent prohibitionist, stole all of his "thunder" by calling a special session of the legislature in the summer of 1908 and passed a county option law after the republican state convention had put a plank in the platform declaring for county option. The democratic platform proposed township and city local option and Senator Watson was defeated.

It was then his intention to retire from politics, and he began the active practice of law in Indianapolis and Rushville, where he purchased a comfortable home and prepared to spend the remainder of his life. But politics was still in his blood and when Col. Roosevelt made a speech before the Ohio legislature in 1912 in which he endorsed the initiative and referendum and went on record as believing in the recall of judges, he felt the call and again entered public life to fight what he believed was the false doctrine which Col. Roosevelt endorsed. He fought the former president in precinct, ward, township, county and state, and was Tall's floor leader in the 1912 convention.

In the spring of 1916 Senator Watson was defeated by Senator Harry S. New for the republican nomination in the primary, but following the death of Senator Benjamin F. Shively of Indiana, he was nominated by the Republicans as a candidate to fill out the unexpired term. Senator Watson defeated Tom Taggart, Indiana democratic leader, in the fall of 1916, and is up for election this year.

Senator Watson delights in telling his first political campaign. After being defeated for the nomination for secretary of state in April of the year he was 29 years of age, he was Money.

"Many people seem to think that if Mr. Watson realizes his own physical handicap, he will throw the vote in favor of his own party," Mr. McAdoo undoubtedly has the strength of his own and with the president's active support he would probably retain the nomination. "No one here, a doctor told me that the chances for a private practice on Long Island and the president's daughter, Mrs. McAdoo, was asked by another lady who would be the Democratic candidate and that Mrs. McAdoo replied: 'The only one I can have at the moment is the little story is correctly reported, and I have no reason to doubt my informant. It is supposed to be pretty safe to guess that Mr. Watson will be elected and that the chances will grow slim.'

HIS HOBBY POLITICS, SO IS HIS LIFE WORK

1864—Born at Winchester, Indiana.
1881-1885—Attended DePauw University.
1885—Started law practice at Winchester.
1891-93—Grand chancellor, Knights of Pythias.
1892—Married to Miss Flora Miller.
1892-1894—State president, Epworth League.
1893—Removed to Rushville, Ind.
1894—Defeated for secretary of state.
1895-97—Member of 54th Congress.
1899-1909—Member 56th to 60th Congresses, inclusive.
1908—Defeated for governor.
1916—Elected U. S. Senate, for unexpired term.
1920—Mentioned for presidential nominee.

elected chairman of the congressional convention in his district.

"There was some trouble about reaching a conclusion," Senator Watson has repeated the story many times—"and the delegates, through an argument made by Gowdy, centered on me. William S. Holeman, father of the House and 'watchdog of the treasury,' was the democratic candidate. He had won the previous election by a plurality of 5,000. There wasn't a republican in the world who could beat him, so everyone told me.

"No man in history ever rode more miles or delivered more speeches than I did during the time between the convention and election. I made the short campaign in buggies and wagons, on horseback and on foot. It was a house-to-house and a farm-to-farm canvass. I learned to harvest tobacco and all the other arts of farming common to that territory."

The old Indiana politicians will never cease to discuss stories of this campaign. It became state-wide in importance and attracted some attention outside of Indiana because of the position Senator Watson's opponent held in the National House. Senator Watson's political enemies called him an "upstar" and hooted at suggestions that he might win.

"It is an old story now that he did win—did overcome a plurality of 5,000 which Holeman had rolled up two years previously and won by 400 votes. A political career for Senator Watson was then assured for he quickly won attention in the lower house by his oratory and with his diplomacy and when he voluntarily retired from congress in 1908, he was republican "whip" of the house and acknowledged leader of the majority.

One of Senator Watson's biggest assets in politics is his remarkable memory. Out in Indiana the men who affectionately call him "Jim" number thousands. And Senator Watson can call their first names as readily as they can his. He has campaigned in every county in the state and in every region has friends who think he is "big" enough to be president.

Senator Watson has a delightful family. In Rushville, which he still calls home though he has been maintaining his residence in Washington since being elected to the senate, they are all "just folks", with no "airs" when they come back for a visit. His family numbers four, besides Mrs. Watson, Edwin, a strapping young man who has attained his majority and served as a captain in the regular army during the war, is the eldest. James E. Jr., comes next and then Kathryn, the only girl in the family. The youngest is Joseph Cannon Watson, a namesake of the former speaker of the house, who is a close personal and political friend of Senator Watson.

Senator Watson has always taken active part in civic, religious and fraternal affairs in Indiana and Washington. In 1891 he was made grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias. The following year he became state president of the Epworth League, a Methodist auxiliary organization.

The future of food prices is uncertain, and some dealers do not expect a material reduction within the coming year. They say that there is very little speculation in food commodities and that the price is governed almost entirely by supply and demand. There are exceptions, of course, sugar being one of the principal commodities that is sold on a speculative market. But as a whole, it is claimed, the price is regulated by production and indications do not point to over production. Many lines are already oversold, it is claimed, and so long as this situation exists there cannot be much of a drop in prices.

Clothing, building materials, dry goods and many other markets are apparently hit by the price reduction wave but it appears to be a question if the decreases recorded will be permanent. Some dealers say that if they sell their present stocks at low prices they will be required to go on the wholesale market and replace them at a high figure. So far as local dealers have been informed, there have been no reductions in wholesale or manufacturers' prices, and these are what govern retail prices.

Meanwhile the ultimate consumer sees hope in the price reduction wave and believes that it indicates that lower levels will soon be reached. It is known that there was a wave of buying throughout the country until a few weeks ago when sales were reported to be slowing up. So long as the manufacturers were unable to produce enough to meet the needs of the purchasers there was little change of material drop in prices, but when the market dries prices are usually adjusted to meet conditions.

"After all," declared one man, "price reductions rest with the people. If they will regulate their buying to essential needs for a few months the mills will be able to catch up with their orders and wholesale prices will be lower. Lower retail prices would then be inevitable."

Summer Squash on Bushes

(National Garden Bureau)

The development of the bush summer squash has been of benefit to small gardens. The vine summer squashes would speedily take possession of the territory and crowd out everything else if turned loose. Now it is easy to grow a good crop of fine summer squash on bushes in reasonable space. If there is room, more squashes will be secured from the vine varieties, and to date nothing has displaced the yellow crook-neck in its improved forms, which are much meatier than the old varieties.

The mammoth white bush is a garden favorite. It is one of the patty pan type. These squashes may be started in boxes or pots in some convenient nook and be ready to slip into the ground when some of the early crops are out of the way and the weather is safe for them.

Vegetable marrows, which are popular in England, are making their way here. They are a summer squash of exceptional flavor and size. They are cooked in the same manner as the summer squash and are used when only half grown. Squashes like warm, rich soil and plenty of sunshine.

Twenty Years Of Experience Taught Merit

Nurse Praises Trutona Because She Knows It to be Worthy of Her Recommendation

Muncie, Ind., May 24.—"I'd never recommend Trutona to the hundreds who know me if I wasn't thoroughly satisfied of its merits," says Mrs. Julia Cryer, a well-known Muncie Nurse, who lives at 1923 South Franklin Street.

"I began using Trutona after I had suffered for ten years from indigestion. I had previously tried numberless medicines, but none of them helped me. Gas would form in my stomach after meals, and I'd always feel bloated. I had to take a laxative every day or so."

"I could tell Trutona was helping me after the first few doses. Now, no matter what I eat, I'm not bothered with the gas formations or the bloating, and I don't have to use laxatives any more. My kidneys have ceased to bother me at night, too."

"I have been nursing the sick for the past twenty years, and I know the effect of a medicine on a person. By this fact, I know I'm safe in recommending Trutona, to my hundreds of friends. The Perfect Tonic is certainly well worthy of my unstinted praise."

Trutona is really a medicine of unusual merit. It is unsurpassed as a reconstructive agency, system purifier and body invigorant. Trutona has been declared peerless as a treatment for stomach, liver and bowel troubles.

Trutona is sold in Rushville at Hargrove and Mallin's drug store.—(Advt.)

Miss Mae Taylor was hostess for the members of the Tri Kappa sorority last evening at her home in West Tenth street. The sorority discussed many plans for their work in the future at this meeting. They made plans to give a show in the near future in co-operation with the Psi Iota Xi sorority. No definite date will be announced until after the meeting of the Psi Iota Xi tonight. They also made arrangements to give Bridge and Five Hundred teas during the summer and fall for the benefit of the Children's Board of Guardians which the sorority is financing. A guessing contest was enjoyed by the sorority members during the evening. At the close of the meeting the regular penny supper was served.

The members of the Coterie were entertained with a very unique and amusing party yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Alice Norris in North Harrison street. Miss Norris was assisted by Miss Bertha Helm. Invitations sent to each member, written on red cards, were headed "A Retrospect Party" and contained a rhyme telling the guests how to dress. The ladies responded to the invitations dressed as young girls. The rooms were decorated in spires, dolls and bright pictures and other emblems, in which children delight. Children's games, spelling matches, contests, music and singing, were the amusements for the afternoon. At the close of the afternoon the guests were invited to the dining room, where a small table with small chairs greeted the guests. As they were seated the hostess furnished each guest with a "hib" and then the luncheon was served. The first course was mush and milk; second, salad and sandwiches, and the last, angel food cake and coffee. The guests for the party were Mrs. Will Meredith, Miss Bertha Helm and Miss Alice Teek of Puebla, Colo., the house guest of Mrs. Albert Aldridge and Mrs. Veri Bebout.

to building at this time convinced enough of the petitioners that they were right, to stop the proceedings. So many petitioners have withdrawn their names that there are not enough left to make the required one-third of the school patrons.

Persons interested in the up-building of the schools of Rush County regret that the consolidation movement has been stopped in Richland township, thus delaying the time when this county will reach the goal at which it has been aiming for many years. The county now ranks high in the state in percent of consolidation, being third according to a recent report of the state superintendent of instruction.

The Jackson township schools which will be abandoned when the consolidated school is completed, are located at Henderson and at a cross roads four and a half miles north of Rushville. The second building is known as Osborn school. The new building will be near the site of the Osborn school.

The township trustee does not expect to complete the new school this summer but is making plans to continue school in the old buildings next fall.

SINN FEINERS SEIZE DUBLIN MAIL POUCHES

Booty Included Number of Very Confidential Reports of British Consul to U. S.

MYSTERY IS CLEARING UP

By WEBB MILLER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Dublin, (By Mail)—The mystery of the contents of the Dublin Castle mail pouches which were captured by the Sinn Feiners in a daring daylight raid in the main streets of Dublin is being gradually cleared up.

According to a high Sinn Fein official the booty included a number of very confidential reports from British consuls in the United States on the Irish situation here and "the activities of British agents". The Sinn Feiners intend to publish these reports within a short time for propaganda purposes and the official declared that they would "make very interesting reading for the American public".

Since the raid the Irish government has maintained silence regarding the contents of the pouches which contained hundreds of letters and documents.

"Strangely enough," said the Sinn Fein official "a number of my own letters were found in the castle mail including copies of a certain American newspaper for which I had subscribed, but which had never reached me."

"The raid was made for a certain definite purpose which was accomplished. Our secret service had informed us that some highly interesting documents were in this mail. We got them. I imagine the government's plans had to be changed considerably after the raid."

The castle's mail is now carried in the interior of an armored-car guarded by machine-guns.

WAR VETERANS HOLD 41ST ENCAMPMENT

1200 Will Gather at Bloomington For State Encampment and Reception is Planned

ARMY TENTS ARE PROVIDED

Bloomington, Ind., May 25.—Five candidates were in the field for the office of state commander of the G. A. R. as 1,200 war veterans gathered here today for their forty-first annual encampment.

All auxiliary organizations, including the Women's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, and Daughters of Veterans swelled the attendance to more than three thousand.

The war department through the reserve officers' training corps at Indiana University erected a number of tents on the campus for the use of the veterans, many of whom have expressed a preference for wall tents to the most expensive hotel rooms in the city.

A drum corps composed of three fifers and two drummers, will be a feature of the encampment which will continue through Thursday.

Driving Ease in a

is Due to Special Steels

Many who drive a Maxwell prefer it to a larger car.

They like its nimbleness, its quickness in getting under way, its peculiar ability to thread its way through traffic, its rare driving ease.

One can drive it farther in a day with less fatigue than many cars much larger.

The reason is clear: its engine pulls no superfluous weight.

Not a single unnecessary pound burdens it.

Special steels in a Maxwell eliminate the useless weight—steels made to Maxwell's own formulae, which equal pound for pound those in any car built.

They have extra strength forged into them, and they provide lightness.

This is one reason why Maxwell has won public favor the world over as indicated by nearly 400,000 now in use. How marked the tendency today is recorded by a production of 100,000 for 1920.

Shirley Mason Coming

Tomorrow William Fox will present his delightful star, Miss Shirley Mason, in a new comedy, "Molly and I," based on Frank R. Adams' story "Molly and I and the Silver Ring," at the Mystic Theatre. The pretty little actress is said to have a role that is admirably suited to her great talents and attractive personality. It is described as a comedy with a heap of wholesome fun and just enough of pathos to make it doubly entertaining.

An excellent supporting cast, headed by the always clever Albert Roscoe, supports the star. There are many beautiful scenes in the picture, some of them being laid in an Italian garden.

Howard M. Mitchell, who has handled the megaphone in some of the greatest screen successes, directed Miss Mason in this production.

"Every man has a right to his vengeance," said Goro Moriyanaga (Sessue Hayakawa) in "His Debt," the latest Hayakawa production at the Mystic today.

Moriyanaga, the Japanese gambler, like every Buddhist, believed that vengeance is a debt as obligatory as any other debt. It was the code of his Nipponese forefathers—their religion—and he proceeded with characteristic Oriental cunning and patience to carry out his purpose.

"His Debt" is a tensely emotional drama with thrilling dramatic situations, showing the Japanese character in an interesting light.

Princess Program For Tonight

The disadvantage of having a tender heart is made plain to a score of New York boys when Nellie Jones, pretty stenographer in the office of James Crownshield, smiles her captivating smile at them and then leaves them with only vague memories of what might have been. This is the plight of the love-lorn youths in a "A Virtuous Vamp" starring Constance Talmadge and which will be seen as the opening bill at the New Princess, which opens tonight after a close down of several weeks, while repairs and remodeling was being done.

However, Nellie Jones' vamping is of an innocent nature. She is the daughter of an aristocratic family which meets with serious losses as a result of the San Francisco fire. In order to get employment with an insurance company, she is forced to drop her high-sounding name of Gwendolyn Diana Beaufort Armitage.

SHOWS VALUE OF ACRE FISH POND

Department of Conservation Says
Plan, Used by Kansas Farmers
Could Easily be Adapted Here

AN INTERESTING INDUSTRY

Fish Raising on an Acre Pond Will Produce Many Fish at a Small Expense

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—An acre fish pond located on the farm would not only provide fine piscatorial sport for lovers of this form of outdoor recreation, but likewise be a means through which owners and others could at will secure a delectable dish, is the argument advanced by officials of The Department of Conservation who urge ponds be located on farms where the topography makes such an investment an easy and inexpensive one. These ponds will prove popular once Indiana farmers learn of the revenue possible from them and will care for the fish in as comprehensive a way as they do a prize poultry flock, is the opinion of Richard Lieber, director of conservation in Indiana, and George N. Mannfeld, superintendent of the division of fish and game.

The acre fish pond is past the experimental stage as statistics gathered from such a venture conducted by the Kansas fish and game department recently, will testify.

About 16,000 young fish by actual count were placed in the pond, and as intended, served as food for the more mature denizens. Three years later 27,000 fish of all ages and sizes were taken out. It is estimated the weight of the fish removed weighed 6,780 pounds, the latter figure not including hundreds of small fish. The total number of fish weighing one pound or over was 3,801, and their total weight was 4,279 pounds. Black bass, crappie and catfish made up 3,088 pounds of this weight. There was 978 pounds of bluegill and sunfish and about 1,500 pounds of carp, goldfish and shad.

There were two large-mouth black bass over 22 inches in length and each weighed in excess of six pounds, showing this species grows at the rate of more than a pound a year, for they undoubtedly each weighed only a few ounces when released. Some of the crappie and the blueheads weighed two pounds, while some of the channel cat weighed from four to eight pounds.

This pond was operated in a scientific manner. The fish were fed and given proper attention, without which it would be useless to attempt the acre fish pond project for once the food supply ran short, the larger and stronger fish would feed off the smaller and weaker ones until it eventually became a battle of existence for a survival of the fittest.

The Kansas experiment shows in addition to the following food cast into the pond, from time to time hundreds of small fish were released to serve as food, and in the main the food supply of the 27,000 fish removed, was from a natural and inexpensive source:

200 pounds of corn chop and meat.
600 pounds of chopped up fish (principally German carp).
20 pounds of corn chop.
50 pounds miscellaneous (bread and table scraps.)

The fish and game division of The Department of Conservation is pre-
